Operations Against the Deutsche China-Gesellschaft

ACTION REQUIRED: For your information.

REFERENCE: EGGA-25835, 30 March 1959

1. You stated in Reference that [] was not being encouraged to join the Deutsche China Gesellschaft, but that if he did so on his own it would give KUBARK a "reserve" penetration if something should happen to CAHELM. We are not suggesting that KUBARK ask [] to join the DCG although we have nothing against it. However, we think that the remark about "reserve" penetration requires an explanation on our part as to just what CAHELM can and cannot do in the DCG.

2. CAHELM's main strength is his closeness to Wolf SCHENKE. He is not a member of the Vorstand or Beirat and thus is not always fully informed on developments within the DCG. CAHELM is probably regarded by some of the other DCG members as Schenke's "man" and therefore would have very little access to Schenke's opposition within the DCG. It seems to us that an additional penetration of the DCG would be useful if it gave direct access to the Vorstand and the anti-Schenke people in the DCG or if it provided direct contact with the Communist Chinese.
